

Establish Remote Workforce Productivity in the Matter of Days

Recent travel restrictions and work-from-home measures are overtaking the globe. In response to drastic outbreak of Corona virus, public and private sector organizations are taking proactive, preventive measures to protect their workforce.

Employees are asked to work remotely from their homes to ensure utmost health and safety. Since these unusual circumstances accelerated so fast, many organizations were left digitally unprepared for the remote working model. Any further delays in or absence of taking immediate actions, these organizations will eventually incur costly productive losses and critical business interruptions.

With Microsoft Teams. Link Development can help you in recrafting your business communication experiences quickly, effectively and securely. We can help you respond to your immediate needs for close collaboration and round-the-clock connectivity with your remote workforce, your teams at your office building, whether online, with your public switched telephone network, or a mix of all.
